

PRESS RELEASE

Bahlingen and Endingen - Cooperation between Braunform GmbH and Kaiser Ingenieurbüro GmbH

Braunform GmbH with locations in Bahlingen and Endingen, as well as Kaiser Ingenieurbüro GmbH from Endingen presented themselves together for the first time at the CPHI trade fair from 01-03 November 2022 in Frankfurt am Main. As the world's largest event for the pharmaceutical industry, the trade fair brings together more than 100,000 pharmaceutical professionals and over 45,000 visitors every year. It was therefore exactly the right place to showcase the latest developments and progresses of the companies as well as to present itself as development partners. Holger Ebin emphasizes "With the cooperation we for sure left a good impression, got to know some exciting contacts and had promising conversations incl. "closing success". Thus can be looked together certainly into a positive future, which is promising for both companies".

What unites the partners: They jointly develop innovative solutions for customers - with heart and soul and passion. The development partnership offers customers from all over the world many advantages. From the idea to series production by competent partners matched to each other there are time and cost savings. Likewise it leads to avoidance of interfaces and finally by early consideration of the series processes an improvement of the production efficiency.
