Bahlingen a. K.: Braunform GmbH receives corporate Award – exceptional talent Moritz Koch completes Bachelor's Degree with outstanding results

On November 14, 2025 the Horb campus of DHBW Stuttgart celebrated the graduation ceremony for students of the dual study program in Mechanical Engineering. Among them: Moritz Koch – a exceptional talent.

Moritz Koch completed his dual degree in mechanical engineering, specializing in plastics technology, with an outstanding grade point average of 1.3 and was honored as the top graduate of his program. This marks another milestone in his impressive success story: back in 2022, he completed his apprenticeship as a tool mechanic at Braunform as chamber winner of the IHK Southern Upper Rhine.

To complete both an apprenticeship and an university degree with distinction and as the best in each category is a truly exceptional achievement. "Moritz is a role model for the next generation of trainees and students. We look forward to accompanying his further development with great enthusiasm," said Oliver Bornhäuser Head of HR and Finance of Braunform GmbH.

Pamela Braun, Managing Director of Braunform GmbH, emphasized: "We are proud of Moritz's achievement and delighted that he will continue his career with us. Congratulations, Moritz – we look forward to a successful future together! Moritz Koch's outstanding graduation and the 'DHBW Corporate Award' confirm that we have chosen the right path with our strategy.

The award recognizes excellent support and development of students during their dual studies. Braunform will continue to focus on motivated, innovative professionals who are ready to accept responsibility and support the successful and sustainable corporate development.

Today Braunform employs 380 people and places great importance on qualification, continuous training, and independent action. Promoting young talent remains a central component of the company's strategy.
