Silver for Sustainability: Braunform Receives EcoVadis Award Again

In 2025, Braunform GmbH was once again awarded the Silver Medal in the CSR ranking by EcoVadis. This places the company among the top 15% of all companies evaluated worldwide, significantly above the industry average. The award confirms Braunform's consistent commitment to responsible and sustainable business practices.

As a medium-sized company with an international focus, Braunform pursues a holistic sustainability approach that integrates ecological, economic, and social aspects. "The renewed recognition by EcoVadis shows that our sustainability strategy is on the right track," says Managing Director Pamela Braun. "It is both a confirmation and a motivation for us to further develop our initiatives and actively embrace our responsibility towards the environment and society."

EcoVadis is a globally recognized platform for assessing corporate sustainability performance. Its methodology is based on international standards such as the United Nations Global Compact, ISO 26000, and ILO conventions. Companies are evaluated in four key areas: Environment, Labor & Human Rights, Ethics, and Sustainable Procurement. More than 100,000 companies from over 160 countries use EcoVadis to promote transparency and trust in global supply chains.

The EcoVadis assessment provides valuable insights for improving internal processes. Braunform uses these findings to identify and implement targeted optimization opportunities—particularly in the areas of energy efficiency and social responsibility.

Highlights of Braunform's sustainability strategy include targeted measures to reduce greenhouse gas emissions—such as investments in renewable energy, the introduction of a closed-loop cooling system, and the promotion of circular economy practices. These initiatives strengthen both the company's ecological responsibility and its competitiveness.

Braunform aligns its efforts with the 17 Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) of the United Nations and the growing expectations of its stakeholders. With clear objectives, measurable actions, and transparent communication, the company sends a strong signal for sustainable business—today and in the future.
