

PRESS RELEASE

Braunform gives moments instead of gifts

For Braunform, Christmas is more than a celebration of gifts. It's a time to pause and take responsibility. That's why the company consciously forgoes traditional Christmas presents and instead gives something that truly matters: support for people in special life situations.

Two places where care comes to life

Donations of 1,500 € each go to Haus Johannes in Bahlingen and Villa Schwobthaler e. V. in Endingen. Both organizations are passionately committed to helping people who require special care due to illness or disabilities. With this financial support, Braunform aims to make everyday life a little brighter for the residents.

Why does Braunform do this?

Pamela Braun, Managing Director and owner of Braunform GmbH, sums it up: "Gifts fade. But the feeling of not being alone remains. That's exactly what we want to give." For Braunform, entrepreneurial success means not only economic growth but also social responsibility. The company firmly believes: true values are not created through consumption, but through togetherness. That's why it strives to make Christmas a celebration of warmth and hope for everyone.
